Please join us for the Ground System Architectures Workshop 2012

We're already planning the 16th annual workshop. As the technology challenges and complexities of ground systems increase, so does the need for this unique international forum. GSAW 2012 will bring together government and civilian spacecraft ground system users, developers, and researchers to share their experiences through presentations, tutorials, working groups, panel discussions, and a classified session.

Don't miss GSAW 2012!
